October 17, 2014

On October 15, 2014, a blog written by John Maxwell, The Most Important Question a Leader can Ask, was posted to this site. He discussed the concept that, There is a big difference between people who want to lead because they are genuinely interested in others and possess a desire to help them, and people who are in it to help only themselves.

Amazingly, on October 16, 2014, a taxpayer paid ad appeared in the Arcadian which matches exactly what John Maxwell describes in the posting as, The people who lead for selfish reasons:

People who lead for selfish reasons seek...

- Power. They love control and will continue to add value to themselves by reducing the value of others.
- Position. Titles are their ego food. They continually make sure that others feel their authority and know their rights as a leader.
- Prestige. Looking good is more important to them than being and doing good.
