Something has been weighing on my mind and brought to my attention through another parent, and I really want to voice this. What is going on with the DeSoto County School System? I mean, I do believe there are a number of great teachers, and they have the best intentions, but why are there not the programs for special needs students; why are there not as many resources as other counties? What is happening with DeSoto? Some of the lowest scores in the state? Can we fix this?
